

 |

Permission Request Form

To proceed with your request, please complete the following requirements:

1. Article details:

Title:

Author(s):

Year published:

*Pre-2008: For articles published prior to 2008, author permission must be supplied with your order. We will only be able to proceed upon receipt of the author permission.

Volume number:

Issue number:

Page number(s):

2. For use of:

Abstract

Article

Excerpt

Figure(s)

Table(s)

Other (specify below, e.g., questionnaire)

Number of words:

Figure number(s):

Table number(s):

Page number(s):

Page number(s):

Page number(s):

3. Format (select all that apply):    Print    Electronic    Audio

4. Purpose of use (select all that apply):

Book/Textbook

Journal/Magazine

Educational/Instructional Program

CD-ROM/DVD/USB

Newspaper

Newsletter

Thesis/Dissertation

Brochure/Promotional Materials

Presentation/Slides

Continuing Education

Training Materials

Photocopy

Media (TV/Press/Documentary)

Online/Website/App

Other (please provide details below)

5. Distribution:

6. Expected circulation/quantity/number of views (for questionnaires, state number of uses):

7. Duration of use (permission is granted for 1 year unless otherwise indicated):

8. Will you be translating the material?      Yes      No

If yes, what language(s) do you require?

*For any translation(s) that may be required, permission must be obtained through The Journal of Rheumatology Publishing Co. Ltd. before translation. Translations should be performed by professional translators accredited for medical-technical translation in the respective source and target language(s). Linguistic validation is required for all translations of clinical outcome assessments (e.g., patient-reported outcomes, clinician reports) and questionnaires.

9. Is this supported by commercial or pharmaceutical funding?      Yes      No

If yes, please name:

10. Any modifications?      Yes      No

*If yes, written author permission for alterations/modifications to the requested content must be supplied with your order.

11. To be republished as:

Title of new work:

Publisher of new work:

Expected publication date:

Estimated size (pages):

12. Contact Information:

Requester name:

E-mail:

13. Additional comments/information:

Terms and Conditions

1. For articles published prior to 2008, permission from the first author must be supplied with your order.
2. Abstracts published in The Journal of Rheumatology should be used as a whole and cannot be summarized or paraphrased. The abstract is already a brief summary of the research article; therefore, please use the full abstract.
3. Printing any of our articles is not allowed without written permission from us before printing; permission must be obtained through The Journal of Rheumatology Publishing Co. Ltd.
4. For any translation(s) that may be required, permission must be obtained through The Journal of Rheumatology Publishing Co. Ltd. before translation. Translations should be performed by professional translators accredited for medical-technical translation in the respective source and target language(s). Linguistic validation is required for all translations of clinical outcome assessments (e.g., patient-reported outcomes, clinician reports) and questionnaires.
5. The permission we issue is for the material that was published in The Journal of Rheumatology. Should you wish a modification in its re-use, send your intended modification to the first author to seek their permission, then provide us with a copy of the author's approval for the modification.
6. Permission is granted for 1 year unless otherwise indicated.
7. Quotes are valid for 30 days. Permissions prices are subject to change without notice.
8. Once your request is processed and permission is granted, the order may not be cancelled.