

Open Access Article Request Form

DETAILS

The Journal of Rheumatology offers the option of publishing your article as Open Access. With this option, the author can elect to pay a fee to make the article available to nonsubscribers on The Journal of Rheumatology website. The order cannot be cancelled once the article is published as Open Access online, including the Accepted version (before copyediting) and First Release. In contrast, articles not published as Open Access are subject to the usual subscription access controls. Open Access articles will be identified on our table of contents. An article published under the Open Access option is subject to a publication charge of $4000.00 (plus applicable taxes).

If you would like your article to be Open Access, complete the sections below and return the signed form by email to manuscripts@jrheum.com.

See our privacy policy to learn how The Journal of Rheumatology collects, keeps, and processes your private information.
